

AXIS FOOTBALL CO LTD

Privacy Policy

Version 2 | Last updated 27 September 2026

1. Introduction

Axis Football Co Ltd ("Axis Football", "Axis", "we", "us" or "our") is committed to protecting your privacy and handling your personal information responsibly.

We organise international football tours, training camps, tournaments, coach education programmes and associated travel experiences for players, coaches, clubs, schools and accompanying families.

This Privacy Policy explains how we collect, use, store and share your personal information when you visit our website, enquire about our services, book or participate in a tour, or otherwise communicate with us.

It also explains your rights under applicable data protection laws, including the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR) and the Data Protection Act 2018.

Because many of our tours involve young players, we take particular care in handling the personal information of children.

2. Who we are

Axis Football Co Ltd is a company registered in Scotland, company number SC743066.

Our registered office is 36 Dee Place, East Kilbride, Glasgow, Scotland G75 8RZ.

Axis Football Co Ltd is the data controller of the personal information we collect and use for our own business purposes. This means we are responsible for deciding why and how that information is processed.

For questions concerning this Privacy Policy, requests to access your personal information or other data protection enquiries, please contact us at dgray@axisfootballco.com. Our website is axisfootballco.com.

3. The information we collect

The information we collect depends on your relationship with Axis Football and the services you request.

Enquiry and contact information. Your name, email address, telephone number, club or organisation, role, destination preferences, travel dates, group size and details needed to respond to an enquiry.

Traveller and booking information. Each traveller's full name, date of birth, nationality, passport details, emergency contacts, travel arrangements and accommodation requirements, where needed for a booking.

Medical and accessibility information. Relevant medical conditions, allergies, disabilities, dietary requirements, mobility needs and emergency medical arrangements where needed for the safe and appropriate delivery of a tour. We request only information relevant to the service or assistance being provided.

Payment and transaction information. Booking and payment status, invoices, amounts paid, refunds and related transaction records. Customer payments are safeguarded through our arrangements with Protected Trust Services (PTS). Depending on the payment method, PTS and associated payment providers may process financial information directly.

Technical and usage information. Where collected by our website, IP address, browser and device details, pages visited and information about how visitors use the site, subject to applicable cookie rules.

Marketing and communications information. Correspondence with our team, your communication preferences, subscriptions and records of consent or opt-out choices.

4. How we collect your information

We collect information directly from you when you complete an enquiry form, register for a tour, provide booking details, subscribe to communications or contact our team.

We may receive information from parents or guardians, club and school representatives, group organisers, authorised travel agents and partner organisations that introduce customers to us. We may also receive payment status and transaction information from PTS or other payment providers. Where relevant, website analytics and technology providers may collect technical and usage information on our behalf.

If you give us information about another person, such as a player, coach, parent or member of your travelling party, please ensure you are authorised to provide it and, where appropriate, that the person or their parent or legal guardian has been made aware of this Privacy Policy. Club representatives, coaches and group leaders should have an appropriate basis for sharing group members' information with us.

When information comes from another organisation, we expect that organisation to have an appropriate lawful basis for sharing it. We provide privacy information directly to the individuals concerned where required by law.

If required information is not provided. We may need passenger details, passport information, emergency contacts or other information required by airlines, hotels, football clubs, tournament organisers or authorities. If necessary information is not supplied, we may be unable to arrange some or all of the services in a booking. We will explain what is needed at the relevant stage.

Please tell us if your personal information changes so that the information we hold remains accurate and current.

5. How and why we use your information

We only use personal information where we have an appropriate legal basis. The basis depends on the person and the activity; for example, performance of a contract generally concerns the person who is party to that contract.

Purpose	Legal basis
Respond to enquiries and prepare tour proposals	Steps before a contract, where you are the prospective customer; otherwise legitimate interests in responding to enquiries and developing our services.
Arrange bookings, travel, accommodation and tour activities	Performance of a contract with you, or legitimate interests in delivering a group booking for other travellers; legal obligation where required.
Process payments and maintain financial records	Performance of a contract and compliance with tax and accounting obligations.
Manage tour safety and medical requirements	Contract, legitimate interests in safe tour delivery or legal obligations, as appropriate, plus a separate condition for special category data as explained in section 7.
Provide customer service and handle complaints	Contract, legitimate interests in resolving issues and keeping records, or legal obligation.
Maintain and protect our website and business; improve services	Legitimate interests in security, administration, understanding service use and improvement, subject to applicable cookie rules.
Send promotional communications	Consent or legitimate interests where permitted, subject to electronic marketing rules and your right to object.
Meet legal, regulatory and safeguarding obligations	Legal obligation or another appropriate lawful basis, depending on the circumstances.

Where we rely on legitimate interests, we assess the need for the processing against the rights and interests of the individuals concerned, particularly children. These interests include responding to enquiries, delivering group tours, protecting systems, maintaining records and improving our services.

If we intend to use your information for a materially different purpose, we will explain the new purpose and legal basis before doing so, unless the law permits otherwise. We will not use personal information for incompatible purposes without an appropriate basis and any notice required by law.

6. Children's personal information

Many Axis Football programmes involve children and young people.

We collect and process children's personal information only where necessary to organise and deliver our services, fulfil relevant legal obligations or meet other legitimate and lawful purposes.

Where appropriate, booking information for a child should be supplied by a parent, legal guardian or authorised group representative.

We take particular care when handling children's medical information, passport details, emergency contact information and other sensitive records. Access is limited to people who need that information for a legitimate operational purpose.

We do not intentionally send direct marketing communications to children.

Children have their own data protection rights. Parents and guardians may exercise those rights on a child's behalf where permitted by applicable law, taking account of the child's age, maturity and circumstances.

We encourage parents and guardians to explain to young travellers why certain personal information is required and how it will be used.

7. Medical information and special category data

To provide appropriate support during our tours, we may need information relating to a traveller's health, disabilities, allergies or other medical requirements.

Some dietary requirements may also reveal religious beliefs or health information.

Under data protection law, this information may qualify as special category personal data and receives additional protection.

Where appropriate, we obtain explicit consent from the individual or an authorised parent or guardian before processing this information. In other circumstances, we rely on another applicable legal condition, such as where processing is necessary to protect someone's vital interests in an emergency.

We restrict access to sensitive information and share it only where necessary, such as with authorised tour personnel, relevant service providers or medical professionals.

We do not use medical information for promotional marketing.

8. Sharing your personal information

To organise and deliver international football tours, Axis Football works with suppliers and professional partners. We share only information relevant to the purpose.

Recipients may include airlines, hotels, transport providers, football clubs, academies, tournament and activity organisers, insurers, PTS and payment providers. For example, an airline may require passport details, a hotel rooming information and an academy player names and dates of birth.

We may also share information with emergency medical services, immigration authorities, regulators and law enforcement where appropriate; with IT, hosting, storage, customer-management and business-administration providers; and with lawyers, accountants, auditors and other professional advisers where needed. If Axis is reorganised, sold or transferred, relevant information may be shared with a prospective buyer or successor, subject to appropriate confidentiality and legal safeguards.

Providers processing information for us are expected to meet appropriate contractual and security requirements. Some travel suppliers, insurers, payment providers and authorities act as independent controllers under their own privacy notices.

We do not share your personal information with third parties for their own marketing without your appropriate consent or another lawful permission. We do not share sensitive traveller information with partners for their independent marketing.

9. International transfers

Axis Football operates internationally, and personal information may need to be transferred outside the United Kingdom. Some transfers are necessary to arrange or perform an international tour, for example sharing traveller details with an overseas hotel, airline or football academy.

Where international data protection rules apply, we use an appropriate legal transfer mechanism. Depending on the destination and circumstances, this may include applicable adequacy regulations, recognised contractual safeguards or a specific exception permitted by law for a necessary transfer.

We take particular care when transferring sensitive information and children's personal data. Contact us using section 2 if you would like more information about the safeguards for a particular transfer.

10. Marketing communications

We may send information about Axis Football tours, events, coach education programmes and other relevant opportunities to people who have requested it or whom we are otherwise lawfully permitted to contact.

Our communications may include information about new destinations, available programmes, tour opportunities and related Axis services.

We comply with applicable marketing and privacy laws, including the UK's Privacy and Electronic Communications Regulations.

Where consent is required, we obtain it before sending promotional communications. Where legally permitted, we may also contact existing customers about similar services, subject to applicable opt-out requirements.

You can withdraw your consent or object to direct marketing at any time using the unsubscribe facility in our communications or by contacting us.

Withdrawing from marketing does not prevent us from contacting you about existing bookings, important operational information or other necessary service communications.

We do not use children's personal information for direct marketing.

11. Photography and video

Photographs and videos may be taken during Axis Football tours, coaching sessions and other activities.

Where identifiable images are intended for promotional purposes, such as use on our website, social media or marketing materials, we will obtain appropriate permission before using them.

For children, we will obtain the appropriate permission of a parent or legal guardian and take account of the child's own wishes and understanding.

Permission to use images for promotional purposes is separate from consent or other requirements associated with tour participation.

Where permission is withdrawn, we will stop future promotional use where required by law and take appropriate action in relation to material within our control.

However, it may not always be possible to recall materials already distributed or independently shared by others.

We take safeguarding considerations into account when selecting and publishing images of children.

12. Cookies and website analytics

Our website may use cookies and similar technologies to support essential functionality, understand website performance and improve the visitor experience. Some technologies are necessary for the website to function. Others, such as certain analytics or advertising technologies, may require consent.

Where consent is required, we will ask for it before activating those technologies.

Where a statutory exception applies, we will provide the information and objection mechanisms required by law.

Further information about the specific technologies in use, their purposes and how to manage your preferences will be available through our Cookie Notice and website cookie settings.

13. How long we retain your information

We retain personal information only for as long as reasonably necessary for the purposes for which it was collected, including the delivery of our services and compliance with applicable legal obligations.

Booking and financial records may need to be retained after a tour has finished for accounting, regulatory and legal purposes.

We review the retention of medical, passport and other sensitive travel information and securely delete or anonymise it when it is no longer required. Information connected with a safeguarding matter, incident or legal claim may need to be retained for longer.

When determining retention periods, we consider the nature and sensitivity of the information, applicable legal requirements, potential claims and whether we can achieve the relevant purpose by retaining less information.

14. How we protect your information

We use appropriate technical and organisational measures to protect personal information against unauthorised access, accidental loss, disclosure, alteration and other unlawful processing.

These measures include appropriate access controls, secure storage and restrictions on who may access sensitive information.

We limit access to personal information to employees, authorised representatives and service providers who need it to perform their duties.

Although we take reasonable steps to protect personal information, no method of electronic transmission or storage is completely secure.

If a personal data breach occurs, we will investigate it and notify affected individuals and relevant regulators where legally required.

15. Your data protection rights

Depending on the circumstances and applicable law, you may have the following rights:

Access. Request a copy of the personal information we hold about you and information about how we use it.

Correction. Ask us to correct inaccurate or incomplete information. Erase. Ask us to delete information where there is no longer a valid reason to keep it, subject to applicable exceptions.

Restriction. Ask us to limit how we use your information in certain circumstances.

Objection. Object to processing based on legitimate interests in certain circumstances. You can object to direct marketing at any time.

Portability. In certain circumstances, ask for information you provided to us in a commonly used electronic format or ask us to transfer it to another provider.

Withdrawal of consent. Where we rely on consent, you can withdraw it at any time. This does not affect processing carried out before withdrawal.

You may also have rights concerning certain solely automated decisions, where applicable.

To exercise a right, contact us using section 2. We may reasonably need to verify your identity or a representative's authority before responding. We normally respond without undue delay and within one month; the law permits an extension for complex or multiple requests, in which case we will tell you.

Requests are normally free of charge. The law permits us to charge a reasonable fee or refuse a request where it is manifestly unfounded or excessive. A reasonable fee may also apply if you request further copies of information supplied under an access request.

16. Complaints

If you have concerns about how we handle your personal information, please contact us so we can investigate and respond.

You also have the right to lodge a complaint with the Information Commissioner's Office, the UK's independent data protection regulator.

You can contact the ICO through its website at ico.org.uk.

Where another country's data protection law applies, you may also have the right to complain to the relevant supervisory authority.

17. Third-party websites

Our website may contain links to third-party websites, including football clubs, travel partners, event providers and social media platforms.

These websites operate under their own privacy policies. We encourage you to review those policies before supplying personal information.

This Privacy Policy does not govern the independent processing activities of third-party websites.

18. Changes to this Privacy Policy

We may update this Privacy Policy from time to time to reflect changes in our services, business operations or applicable law.

The latest version will be published on our website, together with its effective date.

Where changes materially affect how we use personal information, we will provide additional notice where required by law. 6